What is OmaStadi?

OmaStadi is the City of Helsinki's way of offering participatory budgeting. This means that city residents are allowed to propose and vote on things that they want to see in their own neighbourhood. Helsinki has allocated 8.8 million euros to realising residents' proposals.

The proposals that will now be voted on were submitted by city residents in autumn 2023. This brochure includes all the proposals submitted for the seven areas that residents can vote on. You can select one area on the proposals of which you will vote. You have five votes. Every resident of Helsinki aged 13 or above is allowed to vote.

The proposals that receive the most votes will be further developed in collaboration with city residents in spring 2024. This means that residents and City employees will together plan how the OmaStadi projects will be implemented in practice. Because of this, the content of proposals, such as their precise locations, may still change during the development phase.
